WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy called Tuesday night for $3.45 billion in new military spending to mobilize more men and arms to meet the Communist threat to Berlin and throughout the world.

He hammered home time and again notice to the Soviet Union that this country intends to fight if necessary in defense of Berlin and the cause of freedom.

"We do not want to fight—but we have fought before," Kennedy said. "We cannot and will not permit the Communists to drive us out of Berlin, either gradually or by force."

House Gets Tax Plan Too $25.1 Million Education Buildup Program Offered

HARRISBURG (AP)—A special legislative committee Tuesday handed the House a $25.1 million education improvement plan for the upcoming school year and a tax to pay for it.

But in agreeing to put the package before the full House, the House-Senate Select Committee on Education said its action was a procedural move and did not imply approval of the program.

"We just wanted to get the plan moving," said Sen. Raymond P. Shafer, R-Crawford, a member of the committee. He and other members of the committee said amendments are expected for most of the measures cleared.

The tax bill would put a 2 percent levy on income from dividends, rents, royalties, interest and capital gains (profits from sale of property). Members of the committee said the measure would be amended to remove interest from the taxable income.

Without interest tax, the measure would produce $25.6 million, said Rep. J. Dean Polen, D-Washington, Appropriations Committee chairman.

The committee termed the proposals sent to the floor for action an interim plan.

The spending measures endorsed by the select committee, then sent to the floor by the regular House Education Committee would:

- Provide $18.6 million for additional teacher salary subsidies.
- Boost the salary of state college faculty members.
- Provide additional subsidies for school construction.
- Lay the groundwork for community college programs.

Other Measures

Other measures backed by the committee would:

- Reorganize school districts into minimum units of 4,000 public school pupils with certain exceptions. (A bill to carry out this plan is in position for final action in the Senate.)
- Establish a council of higher education in the public instruction department.
- Insurance—the Senate approved 36-11 a measure putting the state in the insurance business covering certain risks.
- The bill would allow the state to underwrite insurance on homes in mine subsidence areas in the anthracite and bituminous regions.
- The House-passed measure now goes to Gov. Lawrence for action.
- Population—A bill allowing for a slow reduction in classification of counties losing population was approved by the Senate, 46-4. It goes to the House.
- The measure would provide that a county would keep its current classification until two consecutive censuses record a population requiring a lower classification.
- Pipeline—The House defeated 88-108 a bill that would have cleared the way for a cross-state pipeline to transport coal slurry—a mixture of powdered coal and water.
- Wage tax—On a 122-73 vote the House approved an additional 1/2 of one per cent wage tax in Pittsburgh for school purposes. The city already has a one per cent wage tax for city purposes. At the same time a companion bill was approved, 190-8, eliminating a $5 head tax. The next tax increase would be $3.8 million. The measure goes to the Senate.

British Tighten Belts: Interest Rates Up 40%

LONDON (AP) — Britain's conservative government trimmed the nation's economic sails Tuesday with a 40 per cent boost in interest rates and a sharp tax curb on home consumption.

From midnight on, Britons will feel the pinch of the new austerity program in their pocket-books. Cigarettes, alcoholic drinks, gasoline, automobiles, household goods and many other consumer items will cost more.

After almost a decade of buying these items as never before,

Delaware River Basin Report

58 Dams Will Cost $591 Million, Board Estimates

(This is another in a series of articles interpreting the Delaware River Basin Report of the Army Corps of Engineers. The condensation was prepared by the Water Resources Assn. of which The Daily Record is a member.)

The DRB Report estimates the total construction costs of the 58 dams in the plan at $591,000,000 and of the eight major projects with a Federal aspect needed in the next thirty years of $224,000,000.

The reader should keep in mind that these sums would be spent at various points in time over a 50 year period and would be amortized over 50 year periods subsequent to completion of construction.

The Army Engineers, under existing laws, have to analyze any water projects by computing the benefit-cost ratio (b/c ratio) for the project. This ratio is the relationship between the various average annual economic benefits expected to accrue from a project and its average annual cost in actual dollars.

When the two are equal, the ratio is one to one. A project is generally justified if the benefits are greater than the costs.

After benefits and costs are determined for each project, the Engineers have to allocate the costs of multiple-purpose projects between the Federal Government and non-Federal interests. This is a fairly complex subject that is explored at great length in one of the major appendices of the Main Report and will only be touched upon here.

Flood Control Costs — Under the Flood Control Act of 1936, most of the flood control storage costs in major multiple-purpose projects are apportioned to the Federal Government.

Recreation Costs — Under Section 4 of the Flood Control Act of 1944, the Federal Government bears certain costs that are directly associated with the recreation purposes of multiple-purpose projects.

"In addition to the apportioned specific costs, the Federal interests would bear joint costs allocated to recreation in an amount not to exceed 15 percent of the total project costs."

In sum, with the exception of the Tocks Island project, most of the recreation costs of the major projects will be borne by local interests until such time as Federal law changes.

Water Supply Costs — "In accordance with the provisions of the Water Supply Act of 1958, all costs allocated to the supplies of the water for municipal, industrial, and rural uses from storage in multiple-purpose projects are the responsibility of non-Federal interests."

Hydropower Costs — All power generated by conventional means would be financed by the people for sacrifices, courage, and perseverance "for many years to come."

Kennedy called for no immediate tax increase, but he said one will be requested should improving business fail to provide enough revenue to balance the budget.

The chief executive announced that he is taking additional steps beyond a request for more appropriations — and said he will not hesitate to ask for others if they are necessary to meet the threat to peace.

The steps he announced in a prepared radio-television address to the nation:

1. He is asking an increase in the authorized strength of the Army from 875,000 to about one million men, in order to fill out present Army divisions and "make more men available for the military forces."

He is proposing to increase the Navy by 29,000 men and the Air Force by 63,000 men on active duty. These boosts, with those for the Army, add up to 217,000. The present authorized strength of the Marines, including 15,000 men Kennedy already has requested as a boost, is 190,000. The Air Force figure is 825,000.

2. He is ordering a doubling and tripling of draft calls in the coming months; he is asking Congress for authority to order certain ready reserve units and individuals to active duty and to extend tours of duty. Kennedy said that under this authority "I am planning to order to active duty a number of air transport squadrons and Air National Guard tactical air squadrons, to give us the airlift capacity and protection we may need."

3. Strategic air power will be increased by delaying the retirement of B47 bombers. And many ships and planes once headed for retirement will be kept in service or reactivated to increase tactical air power and sealfit, airlift, and antisubmarine warfare capability.

4. Finally, the President said, $1.8 billion is needed for buying non-nuclear weapons, ammunition and equipment. This is about half of the total extra money he is seeking.

All these requests will be submitted promptly to Congress, beginning Wednesday with the bid for money.

It was his second major radio-television report to the nation since he took office. The first, related to the second, followed his trip to Europe in early June and his face-to-face encounter with Nikita Khrushchev in Vienna.

U.S. Air Passengers Tell Of Hijacking Episode

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Freed by Fidel Castro, 32 passengers and five crewmen of a hijacked American airliner flew back from Cuba Tuesday to tell how a gunman seized control of the plane over Florida and forced it into Havana.

One of the passengers on the Eastern Air Lines Electra when it took off from Miami Tuesday for Tampa, New Orleans and Dallas remained in Cuba. He was identified on the passenger list only as J. Marin. He had bought a ticket to Tampa, Fla.

The slender, Latin-featured hijacker was seen only briefly by the other passengers as he was led away from the airliner by Cuban soldiers. None was ever told his full identity.

Barges In

"He barged into the cockpit and told us we were heading for Cuba," said Phil Knudsen the flight engineer.

"He tapped me on the head with a pistol and told us all to take our head sets off. He told us he had tried to get to Cuba before, but they had refused to let him go," Knudsen said.

In the wake of the plane's hijacking, the FBI in New York learned of a purported Cuban plot to hijack five more American commercial airliners and fly them to Havana.

As agents moved to head off the plot, a gunman with Latin features held up a Mohawk airline plane at the Binghamton, N.Y., airport but surrendered to police who surrounded the plane.

The man, who identified himself as Saino Zazzara, said he only wanted a plane ride prior to committing suicide because his wife had deserted him.

After being detained since their landing Monday morning, the passengers and crewmen were freed by Prime Minister Fidel Castro. They flew to Miami on one of the twice-daily flights operated by Pan American Airways between Florida and Havana.

Their treatment was courteous and they were served excellent food, said Al Lanken of North Miami Beach. But during their stay at the airport hotel he said, "you couldn't move. There was a gun in front of you and behind you."

Castro gave no hint that he would release the $3.5-million aircraft. Some members of Congress said the United States should demand its return, and back up the demand with force.

"Here is the occasion for which we have been waiting," said Sen. Spessard L. Holland, D-Fla., "because here is an act of piracy pure and simple."

Castro threatened in a radio-television speech July 5 to seize any American aircraft hijacked and flown into Cuba.

Presumably, this would be in retaliation for the Cuban planes confiscated in this country by Miami advertising man Erwin Harris.

Government officials said there was a distinction, however. Cuban planes were taken over by law in the United States for satisfaction of unpaid Cuban debts.

New High For Cost Of Living JFK Asks Boost In Civil Defense

WASHINGTON (AP)—Price increases in such items as used autos, gasoline, household linens, apples and watermelons nudged the cost of living to a new high in June.

The Labor Department reported Tuesday that increases in most transportation and housing costs combined with a seasonal rise in food prices to bring about the fractional increase.

The consumer price index for June—the average costs of the typical city-dwelling family—was 127.6, which meant that prices averaged 27.6 per cent higher than in the 1947-49 base period.

The June index was two-tenths of one per cent above May and one-tenth of one per cent above the previous high reached last December. It was nine-tenths of one per cent higher than June of 1959, mainly because of a two per cent rise in prices of services.

No Change In Index

Ewan Clague, commissioner of labor statistics, commented at a news conference there had been practically no change in the index since last October.

Clague foresaw factors "probably on the upside" for the July cost of living figures, due a month from now. He noted that the prices of fruits and vegetables probably will hit their seasonal peak in July.

Clague called attention to a continuing steady rise of the buying power of factory workers, due mainly he said to more hours worked and to higher average hourly earnings.

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy announced Tuesday night he would ask an additional $207 million for a "new start" in civil defense. That would virtually double the $105 million previously asked of Congress for protection of civilians against nuclear assault on the American mainland.

In his radio-TV address to the nation, Kennedy said he would ask Congress for funds and authority to launch a nation-wide fallout shelter program.

He said: "In the event of an attack, the lives of those families which are not hit in a nuclear blast and fire can still be saved—if they can be warned to take shelter and if that shelter is available."

"We owe that kind of insurance to our families—and to our country."

"In contrast to our friends in Europe, the need for this kind of protection is new to our shores."

"But the time to start is now. In the coming months, I hope to let every citizen know what steps he can take without delay to protect his family in case of attack."

"I know you would not want to do less."

The President said his new money request to Congress would be used to identify and mark space in existing private and public buildings which could be used for fallout shelters; to stock the shelters with food, water, first aid kits, tools and "other minimum essentials for survival."

Mentally Ill Measure Signed

HARRISBURG (AP)—Measures dealing with care of the mentally ill and creation of an oil and gas conservation commission in the state were signed into law Tuesday by Gov. Lawrence.

Bourguiba spoke of possible new violence despite the presence of U.N. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld, who arrived Monday night as the president's invited guest on a peace-making and fact-finding mission.

He omitted reference to Hammarskjöld when he announced the new appeal to the Security Council. The secretary-general's presence has done little to ease Tunisian bitterness at French dominance at Bizerte, where France kept a naval base by treaty after granting this former protectorate independence in 1956.

Says Worthless Medicines Sold

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. Food and Drug Administration testified Tuesday that worthless medicines have been sold over his objections.

This testimony by George P. Larrick tended to support the case of Sen. Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn., for his bill to tighten federal policing of the drug industry.

Scott, Boggs Early Senate Move On Compact Urged

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sens. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., and J. Caleb Boggs, R-Del., have moved for early enactment of a Senate bill authorizing an interstate compact for development of Delaware River Basin water resources.

In a letter to Sen. Dennis Chavez, D-N.M., chairman of the Senate Public Works Committee, the two senators urged Tuesday that hearings be held on the bill in early August. Both men serve on the committee.

They were acting on behalf of the six other senators from the four states lining the Delaware River, which, along with the federal government, would become partners in the compact.

Strategy of the four state delegation favoring the bill now appears to be for action on the Senate's own version of the measure, which was assigned to the Public Works Committee upon introduction some months ago.

The House-passed bill, with amendments, went to the Senate Judiciary Committee.

Scott opposed this assignment saying it more properly should go to the Public Works Committee. He said the House-passed bill was sent to the Judiciary because that was the committee that had acted on it in the House.

Walter Pushed Bill

Rep. Francis E. Walter, D-Pa., sponsor of the House bill, pushed the bill through a subcommittee and the full Judiciary Committee without hearings, even though the bill was objected to, at least in part, by Interior Secretary Stewart Udall.

Scott said the House bill, if and when approved by the Senate Judiciary Committee, then would go to the Senate Interior Committee, where he said he strongly suspected Udall's influence might hold it up.

The Senate bill could be amended, supporters of the plan say, to make it conform with the House enacted bill.

An aide to Sen. Joseph Clark, D-Pa., said the negotiators have agreed on language delineating federal powers to participate in the pact which would set up an interstate commission.

Fined For Giving Liquor To Minor

CARL BRYANT, 419 Mulberry St., Scranton, pleaded guilty in Monroe County Court yesterday to furnishing minors with intoxicating beverages and was sentenced by Judge Fred W. Davis to pay a fine of $100 and costs or spend three months in jail.

Judge Davis stipulated that the fine and costs must be paid in not less than four equal installments.

Dist. Atty. James R. Marsh, who presented the Commonwealth's case, described it as unusual in that Bryant is not the owner nor employee of a liquor license.

Bryant was charged with giving liquor to a 15-year-old boy who accompanied him on a bus trip here from Scranton.

Pleads Guilty

Herbert H. LaBar, 51, East Stroudsburg, RD 2, pleaded guilty to drunken driving and was fined $300 and costs.

Thomas George Fransue, 18, of 348 Merton St., East Stroudsburg, pleaded guilty to charges of burglary and larceny and was sentenced to an indefinite term at Camp Hill Industrial School.

David W. Burger Sr., appealing a summary conviction for a game law violation, was found guilty, fined $100 and costs and had his fishing and hunting privileges withdrawn for two years.

Jose M. Diez, appealing a summary conviction for speeding, was found not guilty.

Contract Awarded For Bridges

THE STATE Highways Dept. yesterday awarded a contract for replacement of substandard bridges in Pike County to G. R. Gray, Inc., Swarthmore, at a bid of $246,858.

The bridges are on Legislative Routes 51006-51008 (1) and 51008 (3) over Dingman's Creek, Raymondskill Creek and Twin Lakes Creek in Delaware, Dingman and Shohola Townships. The total distance involved is .86 of a mile.

300 Expected To Attend Testimonial

APPROXIMATELY 300 persons are expected to attend a dinner at the home of Thomas P. Lambert Post 2540, Veterans of Foreign Wars, at 6:30 p.m. Saturday, honoring two Monroe County veterans who hold the Distinguished Service Cross.

They are Harvey Possinger, of Stroudsburg, who earned the DSC with the 25th Division in World War II, and Jack Gehris, a member of the Lost Battalion of World War I.

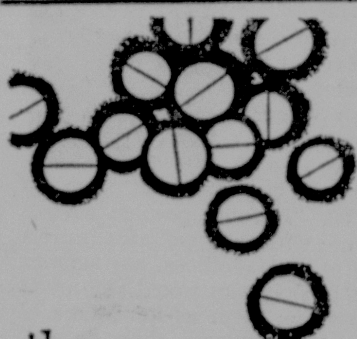

Col. Lester W. Kale, commanding officer of Tobyhanna Signal Corps Depot, will be the principal speaker and will present citations to Possinger and Gehris.

Participating organizations will include the honor guard from the Signal Corps Depot; Society of the 28th Division; American Legion posts throughout the county; Troop B, Third Recon. Squadron, Ninth Cavalry; Third Motor Transport Bn., 37 S. Marine Corps Reserve; the VFW and former members of the 15th Division.

Proceeds of the dinner will be used to finance the trip of Possinger and Gehris to the national convention of the Legion of Valor in Miami, Fla.

Tickets for the dinner are still available and the public is invited. Dancing and entertainment will follow.

Carlton Installed Press Fotos' Head

SCRANTON—Leslie B. Carlton, retired photographer for the Stroudsburg Daily Record, performed his first duty as the president of the Scranton Press Photographers Association.

Carlton presented Bernard B. Blier, executive director of the Scranton Redevelopment Authority and the Northeast Pennsylvania Industrial Development Commission, the "Most Co-Operative Citizen Award" Monday night.

The presentation was made at the annual dinner-meeting of the association at Hotel Casey, Scranton at which Mayor James T. Hanlon was host.

In conferring its award on Blier, the association noted his wide acquaintance in the public relations field and directed attention to his past service with the Scranton Chamber of Commerce, the Pennsylvania Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Pennsylvania Highway Information Association as well as his own CJB Associates.

In accepting the ninth annual award from Carlton, Blier expressed his confidence in the future of this region under the redevelopment program and noted that the program to attract new industry is necessary if the region is not to lose the Middle West gain industries that might well be located here.

Philip Butler, staff photographer of the Scranton Times, was toastmaster for the dinner-meeting. He introduced Mayor Hanlon, Edward J. Gerrity, managing editor of The Times, Edward J. Donohoe, city editor of The Times, as well as other newsmen, news photographers and other prominent area citizens.

Representative Daily Record Present from the Stroudsburg area were John F. Hill, editor of The Daily Record; Roderick MacLeod staff photographer, The Daily Record, and the new association president Carlton.

Carlton was installed as the new president of the group to succeed John M. Mielicki, Tobyhanna Signal Depot, who became chairman of the board.

Other officers of the association in addition to Carlton are, Butler and Roy Ackerman, Tamaqua Evening Courier, vice president; Sid Harris, WNEP-TV, treasurer; and Rocco J. Boichichio, Tribune and Scrantonian, secretary.

New Freight Rate Put On By E-L Rails

ERIE-Lackawanna Railroad put in effect Saturday a new rate for freight service, officials announced yesterday.

The rate will be a charge of 20 cents per 100 pounds on freight carried on the Erie-Lackawanna trains for all shipments of less than car load lots, or less than 10,000 pounds.

The additional charge is to cover pickup and delivery and does not effect the standing rates if the customer desires to pickup or deliver the freight to or from the freight station.

Mail Lost In Fire On Bus

MARSHALLS CREEK—Firemen from the Marshall's Creek Fire Co. were called to Craig Meadows Monday when a Lehigh Valley bus traveling north on Route 209 caught fire.

Firemen reported only slight damage to the bus, the loss of one bag of U. S. mail and light damage to another.

Norman Gregory, East Stroudsburg postmaster, was informed of the loss of mail and dispatched Stewart Marsh, assistant postmaster, to the scene of the fire to investigate.

Marsh reported that the bag destroyed contained only several parcels, packages of books and one laundry package. All were enroute to camps in Monroe and Pike Counties.

The second bag of mail was sent to the Bushkill postoffice.

$23,000 Paint Job On Roads

COST TO DATE for paint used by the State Highways Department in Monroe County is more than $23,000 and the two paint machines are continuing to line the roads, Frank Smith, Monroe County superintendent of highways, announced last night.

More than 484 miles of highways in the county have been completed. To paint the lines on the roads 6,351 gallons of white paint, 2,338 gallons of yellow paint, and 19,963 beads mixed with the paint have been used.

The use of two colors is another step forward in the effort of the Department of Highways to improve safety on the highways.

Yellow paint will be used exclusively for barrier lines, that is, lines which a motorist may not cross when he has them on his side of the white centerline. (Left turns across the yellow lines are not prohibited however).

White paint will be used for guide lines, such as those delineating lanes, edge lines along pavements, crosswalks and so on. White paint also will be used to mark hazards or obstacles, such as bridge abutments and wedge shaped areas with diagonal lines to warn of narrowing pavements and other obstacles.

Use of yellow paint will bring Pennsylvania's pavement marking standards into line with national standards issued by the American Association of State Highway Officials. It is believed that the yellow color will be more visible than white, especially when the weather is bad.

K Urges Eat More Horsemeat

MOSCOW (AP)—With Premier Khrushchev urging more people to eat horse meat, the Soviet news agency Tass reported yesterday that Kazakhstan plans to increase its horse stock to 1.6 million in the next five years.

In a dispatch from Alma Ata,

Tass pointed out that horse meat and kumis — fermented mare's milk — are traditional Kazakh foods.

It quoted Dr. Lev Ginsberg, a lung specialist, as saying: "Two months of drinking kumis are equal to two years in Italy."

When existing markers or monuments need duplication we can do so most accurately—at reasonable cost.

High Officials Support Flood Control Project

Construction of four flood control dams in the upper reaches of the Brodheads Creek Watershed moved closer to reality this week when high government officials in Harrisburg added their strong endorsement to the support already expressed in Washington.

The work plan as formulated by the Soil Conservation Service calls for the expenditure of $1,502,976 in federal funds and $71,944 in local funds.

Congressman Francis E. Walter requested the two Agriculture Committees of Congress to approve the federal grant in a follow-up move to President Kennedy's formal request for the funds.

A hearing held Monday before the Conservation Subcommittee of the House Agriculture Committee was marked by the introduction of "dramatic pleas" from many state and local sources in support of the project. The subcommittee responded by unanimously recommending approval of the appropriation by the full committee.

Congressman Walter said this would put the request in position for final approval by the Senate Agriculture Committee.

Gov. David L. Lawrence supported the entire watershed project with a statement recalling the heavy loss of life and property resulting from the 1955 flood along the Brodheads.

He also endorsed the inclusion of recreational storage in one reservoir and the design of the program so that it becomes a harmonious element in the over-all plan for the Delaware River Basin.

"The long-term benefits of this project—basic land improvement and flood prevention—will aid in the needed development of new industries in this area," the Governor declared.

Further endorsement of the work plan came from Dr. Maurice K. Goddard, state secretary of forests and waters, whose department has an extensive local floor protection project under construction downstream in Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg.

Construction of the dams in the upper reaches of the Brodheads, according to Dr. Goddard, is fully justified on the basis of the protection they would provide in the upper watershed. Further, they said, they may be considered as the first units of the flood control plan for the creek and its tributaries as proposed by the Corps of Army Engineers.

Also adding his weight to the request for funds was William L. Henning, state secretary of agriculture, who pointed out that "both the state and local governments are interested in and ready for swift completion of this vital project."

It's encouraging to note that a project so necessary for the safety and well-being of our people has the backing of so many high officials in government.

Already, a large number of local people have sent statements to Congressman Walter calling for early construction of the dams. These appeals from "people who know first-hand the importance of flood control projects" were credited by Mr. Walter with helping to win subcommittee approval of the funds.

Additional weight might be needed to push the request through the full committees in both House and Senate. We urge everyone interested in flood protection for the Brodheads Creek Watershed to write to Rep. Francis E. Walter, Room 330, Old House Building, Washington, D. C., setting forth their views. The congressman will add those to the statements already received.

Union Dues For Politics

Years ago, when the Taft-Hartley Bill first came up for discussion, one of the arguments was that a union member ought to control the use of his dues for political purposes. For instance, a Republican member of a union ought not to be required to contribute to the Democratic Party by order of the union officials.

As a matter of fact, some unions have gained enormous power by the use of union funds for campaign contributions. In effect, this is a form of political peonage and therefore is intolerable in a free society.

So, after all these years, the Supreme Court has come to the rescue of individual opinion and dignity by deciding that a man who is compelled to join a union because he works under closed shop conditions may veto the use of his dues for such political purposes as displease him.

He remains master of his money. This is essential in a free political system where each individual possesses freedom of choice to decide his own course of action.

Although, as the decision now stands, it is limited to the Railway Labor Act, it can and undoubtedly will be applied to other than this industry. If its application is general, it can have a serious influence on our political system.

The central problem is that it costs so much to be elected to public office. In the days of Mark Hanna, a Republican could be sure of getting his contributions from corporations; today, corporate contributions are limited.

The income tax has had the effect of putting a ceiling on private expenditures with the result that one has to be very rich indeed, either by inherited wealth or by "free money," that is, money that is hidden and untaxed, to make a sizable contribution to a candidate.

The use of "free money" is illegal because no tax has been paid on it. In a word, it is cash money that is paid "under the table," as the expression goes.

A candidate must either be rich like President Kennedy or Governor Rockefeller or he may have some racketeer friends who can get him plenty of "free money," hoping that nobody will ever know about it or he can go to a labor leader and get a sizable donation.

It is the latter kind of money which is most practical and therefore smart politicians stand in right with certain labor officials who have large funds for "educational" purposes or to propagate trade unionism or who hand out their largess as an "under the table" contribution.

It is the high cost of campaigning, particularly the cost of television advertising, which is so corruptive in our national life. It forces a candidate to find means for election which compromise his integrity.

In another case the Supreme Court dealt with the same issue in relationship to integrated bar associations. An integrated bar association is a lawyer's society to which all lawyers are required to belong by state law.

The question arises why any bar association should make political contributions. A bar association exists to police the legal professions, to see to it that lawyers are men of character and decency, to pass on the suitability of candidates for judicial office. Why should any bar association make a political contribution?

And yet, there has been such a case before the Supreme Court, in which the Court upheld compulsory bar association membership, which, in effect, makes the legal profession, a closed shop. Compulsory membership in a bar association reduces the legal profession to a trade, disciplined by union officials.

One might ask whether this country is not becoming over-organized and if this excessive organization will not ultimately lead to a sort of fascism, under which political control rests not with the individual citizen, as a voter, but with powerful pressure organizations which control members of Congress by their ability to contribute satisfactorily to campaign funds.

Sooner or later, this issue will come to the fore as a result of some public scandal because the people will be shocked to discover how much money really goes into campaign funds and how it is contributed.

Sooner or later, we shall find a way of protecting the ballot by limiting campaign contributions. Elections can be bought in the sense that candidates are forced to go beyond their consciences to satisfy contributors.

Local Effort

By Mason Denison
Harrisburg — This week special select House and Senate committees trying to work out legislative programs for a statewide school system overhaul — and the means of underwriting the cost thereof — are again poring over the thorny problems with a backdrop of heavy gubernatorial urging for speed.

The "educational beef-up" program as now shaping up would call for an expenditure of roughly $25 to $30 million the first year, climbing to about $80 million the next year, and increasing thereafter.

An increased tax load these days is more seriously viewed than ever before — regardless of what the goals may be. Sooner, lawmakers could hardly be blamed for wanting to "make sure" back home before they move.

And again — this increase in the tax load as now proposed on the state level recalls only too significantly what has been happening on the local level during the past three years with increases in local taxes, as noted in this column yesterday.

Combine the two — and perhaps it's really worth thinking about twice!

To illustrate the "local effort" point, Huntingdon County Superintendent of Schools Homer W. Dell the other day cited an instance in his own county, which can be multiplied in some degree by almost any local school district throughout the state.

In 1960-61, Dell pointed out, the district in question levied 17 mills in addition to per capita and wage taxes — and was able to show a balance.

In 1961-62 the district levied 37 mills in addition to per capita and wage taxes — but the budget shows a deficit three times as great as that shown for the school year 1960-61, the Huntingdon County school chief pointed out.

The question seemingly arises at this point as to whether local school districts that now are having difficulty meeting fiscal commitments — and there are some that actually are finding it impossible — are in position to move along with the educational beef-up program, without some down-to-earth grass roots scrutiny.

The statewide pattern is one thing — the local pattern quite another. Ideologies — political or otherwise — are great but in the final analysis, the means and the practicality or feasibility become the determining factors.

Mr. Lawrence notwithstanding, perhaps some "grass roots" study is really in order.

Best way to find out is for local people to let their lawmakers know how they feel!

Turning out this Saturday night at the Lambert VFW Post Home for the ceremonies of the veterans groups honoring these men is one way of saying, "Thanks, Jack and Harvey for a job well done."

At least Gehris and Possinger might still, for the moment, that their efforts during the "war to end all wars, and war supposedly to end all wars" were not in vain.

Off The Record

By Bob Clark

We imagine Jack Gehris and Harvey Possinger wonder many times if their heroic exploits were worth the effort now that we are on the verge of another world war. Gehris fought "the war to end all wars" in World War I, while Possinger battled in the war "which supposedly ended all wars" in World War II.

Monroe County's favorite sons, recipients of the Legion of Valor Medals, will be honored by the veterans association of the county at the Veterans of Foreign Wars Home, Saturday night.

Gehris and Possinger, both residents of Stroudsburg, soldiered far beyond the call of duty on different fronts. Jack a member of the famous Lost Battalion, gained his greatest honor on the battlefields of France, while Harvey won one of the highest medals in the land in the South Pacific.

Paying tribute to these two men is only a small part, we as a community, can offer. Both of these individuals dared death to assure the safety of others. If we want to be exact, their glorious feats in No Man's Land assured longer life for those within the boundaries of the United States.

Many times we have wondered whether Jack and Harvey would laugh at death if the situation arose again. Knowing the two gentlemen and their sincere contributions to civilian life we wouldn't hesitate to answer — yes.

Men like Gehris and Possinger are the type needed to fill the somewhat slim beyond the call of duty corps. Many of us had the opportunity to fulfill the promise that Possinger and Gehris were blessed with. But it seems we couldn't be separated into the class that splits men from the boys.

The wars we are most familiar with — World War I, World War II, and what we consider Korean War (not conflict) — saw many boys and men do what was expected of them. But it was fellows like Jack and Harvey which did the little more and no doubt shortened the tenures of the pains-taking world battles.

We owe Gehris and Possinger something. Not much in regards to dollar and cents. But something to let them know we acknowledge their heroic, and unmediated duty of World War I and II.

Turning out this Saturday night at the Lambert VFW Post Home for the ceremonies of the veterans groups honoring these men is one way of saying, "Thanks, Jack and Harvey for a job well done."

At least Gehris and Possinger might still, for the moment, that their efforts during the "war to end all wars, and war supposedly to end all wars" were not in vain.

The Allen-Scott Report

Nike-Zeus Tests Set

By Robert S. Allen and Paul Scott

Washington — The first of a series of crucial showdown tests for the Nike-Zeus, the anti-missile missile the Army is developing, is going to take place next week.

A complete three-stage Nike-Zeus, with its highly complex radar tracking and control system, will be fired for the first time from Point Mugu, California, range.

Riding on the outcome of this historic firing, in addition to the success or failure of the anti-missile missile, are three major nuclear defense decisions involving:

Resumption of underground nuclear tests to develop an atomic warhead for the anti-missile missile.

Order for production of the Nike-Zeus, the only potential active defense against Soviet ICBM's available to the U.S. within the next five years.

Actual test between a nuclear-armed Nike-Zeus intercontinental ballistic missile armed with a nuclear warhead.

President Kennedy is expected to act favorably on one or more of these Army requests if the first Nike-Zeus firing is successful.

For instance, the Army has made a strong case of beginning nuclear tests in November in order to meet the tight schedule set for the development and deployment of the Nike-Zeus by 1964 at strategic locations throughout the nation.

If this testing timetable is not kept, the Army claims that the missile will be ready for use long before its refined atomic warhead, with all its necessary safety factors.

Also, the Army has turned over to the President's eleven-man nuclear test study group evidence that an atomic warhead for an anti-missile missile was tested in the Soviet Union more than three years ago.

They fear that any further delay in U.S. testing will give the Soviets a dangerous lead in the development of an anti-missile missile.

The Target — The principle purpose of these momentous tests, extending over the next six months, is to determine whether the Nike-Zeus can intercept the 18,000 mph Atlas and knock it out of the air — without setting off its city-destroying nuclear warhead.

This crucial head-on test is now slated for early in 1962 when the Army's anti-missile missile will be hurled from Kwajalein Island against the Air Force's ICBM fired from the West Coast.

The construction of the Nike-Zeus installation on Kwajalein is already well advanced, but the go-ahead signal for the "live" intercept test depends on the outcome of next week's firing and President Kennedy's decision on when nuclear testing is to be resumed.

The tests will also demonstrate whether the Nike-Zeus' extraordinary "radar brain" can actually differentiate between devastating ballistic missiles and decoys.

Such a breakthrough in anti-missile development would give the U.S. a tremendous advantage over the Soviets. Army scientists believe that development will tip the scales of the intercontinental ballistic missile race in favor of the U.S.

The Nike-Zeus' remarkable radar tracking system, being tested on Ascension Island in the South Atlantic, worked with the precision of an atomic clock in tracking Astronaut Virgil Grissom's 300-mile rocket ride.

Like the Grissom flight, next week's Nike-Zeus firing will be open for all the world to see its outcome.

Looking Into Space — The National Aeronautics and Space Administration is preparing to pick a new group of astronauts for training. This time the space men will not be limited to test pilots. Also, at least one Negro astronaut will be selected in the second group.

Russia has tested more than 30 ICBMs since President Kennedy took office. During May and June, the Soviets averaged three firings a week, according to information gathered by the National Security Agency's long-range monitoring system.

Sen. Clinton Anderson, D-N.M., vice chairman of the Joint Atomic Committee, is vigorously urging the President to end the test-ban moratorium by the end of August.

The Navy is shooting for the first operational space system by the fall of 1962. That's when the Transit satellite navigational system is expected to be ready for use by ships and aircraft of the U.S. and other nations.

From The Realm Of Stamps

By Ray Patton

Until a collector begins to look at a postage stamp as more than a space filler, he is missing a wonderful, exciting experience which philately has to offer.

As Sven Ewert, the noted Swedish designer-engraver, once said before his untimely death in 1959, "If some postage stamps were offered in galleries instead of at the postoffices, any number of connoisseurs would pay much more for them as miniatures of art masterpieces than do collectors as additions to their albums."

When stamps were introduced, Sir Rowland Hill considered the postal "label" solely as an item that would serve its postal purpose. His chief concern was not beauty, but utility and the necessity of making the stamp proof against counterfeiting.

Utility demands that only two factors be present in any stamp design: the name of the country and the denomination of value, but as more and more stamps were issued, designers went far afield in creating layouts. When postal administrations are aware of the artistic value in which stamps can be planned, without sacrificing their postal requirements, we get truly beautiful stamps.

When they are not aware of this, some of the stamps we see have been monstrosities. Many countries have issued stamps showing part of, and in some cases the entire, paintings of the "Old Masters." On some issues the countries have pictured famous artists; for example, France pictured Rembrandt and Michelangelo, Italy, Leonardo Da Vinci, etc.

Many countries reproduce famous paintings on their stamps to mention only a few: Argentina, "Jesus" by Da Vinci; "Pieta" by Michelangelo; Vatican City, "Annunciation" by P. Cavallini; "Annunciation" by Da Vinci, Italy, "Self Portrait" by Giovanni Fattori.

Germany, "Mona Lisa" by Da Vinci; "Self Portrait with Sash" by Rembrandt; "Sistine Madonna" by Raphael. Costa Rica, "Boy with a Club Foot" by Ribera and "Boy Blowing on Charcoal" by El Greco, and many more.

Thus one can have a collection of art masterpieces, in miniature, on postage stamps.

Along with our electric bill this month, which has a yellow "past due" sticker and suggests that "prompt payment will avoid annoying collection action," we get a handy little folder with Hints for Homemakers including:

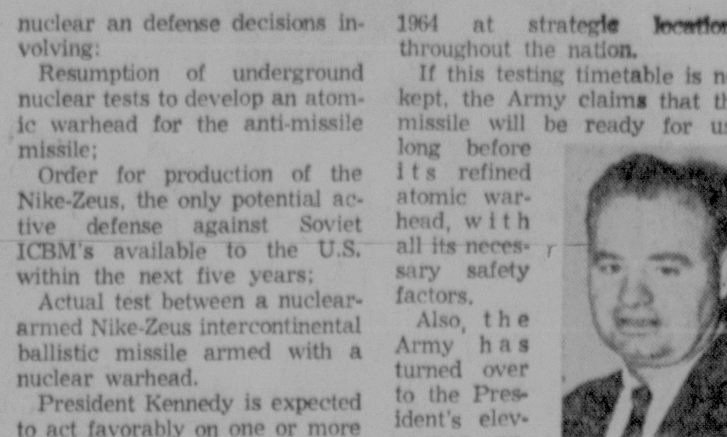

To start rosebushes or other plants from slips, punch a hole in a raw potato and push the slip into the hole. Plant as usual. The potato keeps the stem moist and helps the plant to grow firm roots.

Served Him Right
A woman traveling by train was talking with a man in the next seat. She told him she had spent some time with her married daughter in San Jose, California.

"You pronounced that wrong," the man said. "In California it is pronounced as H's. When were you there?"

"In Hune and Huly," the woman replied.

"On second thought, dear . . . I think I'd prefer a church wedding."

Dear Doctor

By Burton H. Fern, M. D.
Dear Doctor: Recently I've started taking Epsom salts daily for high blood pressure. It works like magic.

Can all this Epsom salts harm me?
Mrs. C. W.

Dear Mrs. W.: Instead of high blood pressure, you'll have the laxative habit! Foods will race through the intestines without being absorbed into the body.

Your blood pressure may drop, but so will your health. Ask your doctor.

Painful Jaw
Dear Doctor: My right jaw began to hurt four months ago while I was talking angrily. The pain hasn't let up.

What could cause this?
Mrs. M. S.

Dear Mrs. S.: Arthritis of the jaw joint just in front of the ear. Or a jaw bone slightly out of joint.

Perhaps you merely lost a filling. Let your dentist have a peek so the pain can take a powder!

Dear Doctor: No matter what I eat, my heart starts to pound an hour or so after meals. Why?

Dear Mrs. H.: Turn your question upside down and you'll find that your heart pounds before meals.

Perhaps you have an upside-down stomach or stomach in the chest. Heavy gravity can weigh down the stomach and push it back into the abdomen. Your doctor can tell more when he checks you over.

Hurry-Up Tanning
Dear Doctor: How do quick-tanning lotions work? They're supposed to tan you in three hours with or without the sun. Can they harm the skin?

Mrs. A. M.
Dear Mrs. M.: All such lotions contain a chemical that filters sunlight and helps you tan without burning. Another chemical quickly strains the outer layer of the skin. This false tan soon peels, exposing your true sunburn.

Why Do Feet Swell?
Dear Doctor: I'm now 40. I've always been troubled with swollen feet and ankles, especially in hot weather. Why?

Mrs. B. C.
Dear Mrs. C.: Returning from your feet, blood has to fight its way uphill. The slightest back pressure slows the flow and forces fluid to ooze out in feet and ankles. The extra flow on hot days usually makes this swelling worse.

Some swellings stem from varicose veins, blood clots, etc. For the right answer, you'll have to see your doctor.

Dr. Fern's mailbox is wide open for letters from readers. While he cannot undertake to answer individual letters, he will use readers' questions in his column whenever possible and when they are of general interest. Address your letters to Dr. Fern in care of this newspaper.

Congressional Quiz

Population Statistics

Population and housing characteristics of the 50 states and District of Columbia have been brought out in the 1960 Census. This quiz tests your knowledge of some current U.S. population statistics. Try for four correct answers.

Q. — Between 1950 and 1960, the U.S. population increased by (a) 34.6 million; (b) 27.9 million; (c) 23.4 million; (d) 19.8 million?

A. — (B). The increase was more than 8 million greater than that shown in any previous census.

Q. — True or false: Alaska, whose population of 226,167 was the smallest of any state, nevertheless led all states in the rate of population increase during the 1950s?

A. — False. Florida's population increased by 78.7 percent during the decade. Nevada was second with a 78.2 percent gain, and Alaska, with a 75.8 percent increase, was third.

Q. — The state with the highest percentage of persons over age 65 was (a) Maine; (b) Arizona; (c) Iowa; (d) Florida?

A. — (c). Iowa had 327,685 aged residents in 1960, or 11.9 percent of the total state population. Persons 65 years old and over comprised 11 percent or more of the population in eight other states.

Q. — The state with the greatest number of Negro residents was (a) New York; (b) Mississippi; (c) Illinois; (d) Georgia?

A. — (a). New York's Negro population grew by almost 500,000 during the 1950s, to a total of 1,417,511.

South Wayne Concert Set For Sunday

NEWFOUNDLAND — The first of two concerts to be presented by the Southern Wayne Joint School Band for the benefit of the summer recreation program will begin at 8:15 p.m. on Sunday, July 30, at the band shell.

The band, directed by John Strupevski, will present the concert under the sponsorship of the Parent Teacher Association, which has given its financial backing to the recreation program. This includes the Red Cross swimming program, conducted each Monday afternoon by Mrs. Willis Gilpin, assisted by Jean Ann Lupcho and Robert Hang; the athletic program under the direction of Robert Haag, conducted each weekday night except Tuesday, when there is an afternoon program; and the music program, directed by Mr. Strupevski.

Equipment for these events, particularly for the swimming program, is being purchased by the PTA and will be kept in the area for use each Summer. This includes kickboards, ringboards and ropes for the use in instruction.

The swimming instruction is given through the cooperation of Charles Schelbert, who has given permission for the use of the area at the South Branch of the Wallenpaupack Creek on Route 507 at county line. Those who drive to the creek shore have been requested not to drive through the fields, but to stay on the driveway.

Cuban Repatriates

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—Two hundred Cuban repatriates have arrived in Havana from New York, the Cuban radio said Tuesday.

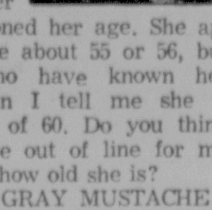

"Yankee imperialism made life impossible for them in the United States," an announcer said on a broadcast monitored here.

The announcer did not say how the repatriates traveled from New York to Havana or on what day they arrived.

Dear Abby

What's In An Age?

Dear Abby: I am a 63-year-old widower who is interested in marrying a lovely little gray-haired widow. She has a sparkling personality and seems to be made to order for me. Her children are married and so are mine. She never has mentioned her age. She appears to be about 55 or 56, but friends who have known her longer than I tell me she is every day of 60. Do you think it would be out of line for me to ask her how old she is?

GRAY MUSTACHE

Dear Abby: Don't ask her. But if she tells you, add five years and marry her anyway.

Dear Abby: I am a man of 44 and I am married to a woman of 38. We have been married two years and we agreed when we were married that we would wait a while before having a family. Well, I think we have waited long enough, but my wife keeps stalling. I feel it will be unfair to the children to have parents that are too old to be companions to them. Am I wrong or is she?

EDDIE

Dear Eddie: You are right and if you want "originals" you had better hurry before the factory

Multi-Level Living Provides Privacy Too

By JULES LOH

FIVE entrances plus an oversized central foyer would give any home uncommonly fine circulation features — but that isn't the only advantage this handsome four-bedroom split offers.

The house is so well zoned the entire lower level could be used as a rental apartment without disturbing activities in the rest of the house at all, and vice versa.

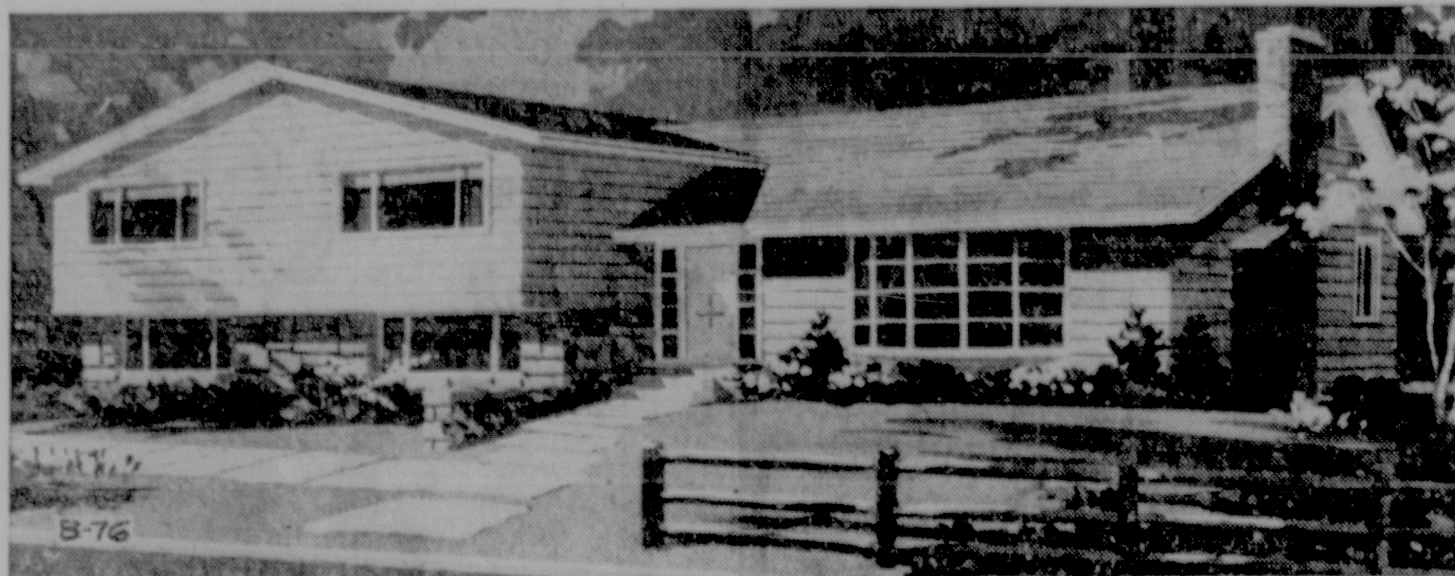

"If this were desired," said architect Herbert W. Neumann who designed House of the Week B-76, "it would be a simple matter to convert the lower level laundry into a kitchenette. The family room would become a living room, complete with its own outdoor terrace."

That's just one possibility, however.

For a large family, the 11 feet, three inches by seven feet lower level room (with adjacent bath) could easily become a fifth bedroom or, as Neumann's floor plans suggest, a sewing room, maid's quarters, den or what have you.

The circulation features of B-76 deserve further mention. Note that not a single room in the house needs to be entered by passing through another room; and that every room on the living level has at least two entrances — three in the kitchen, which is the control center of the house.

The entrances from outside are through the front and back

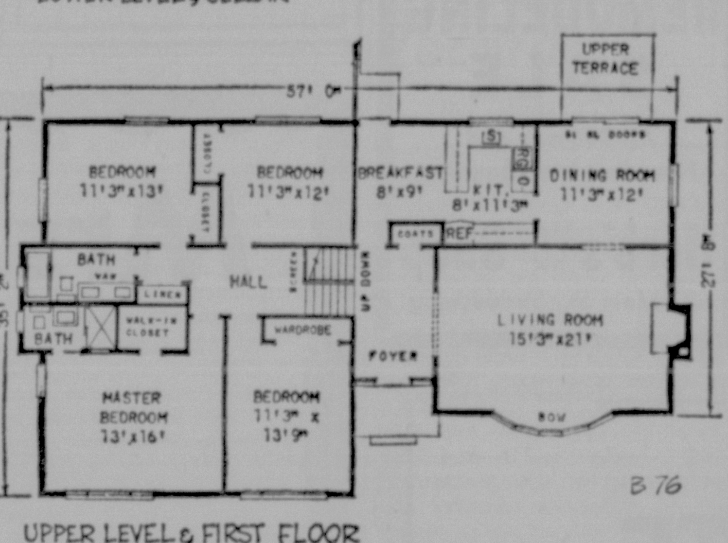

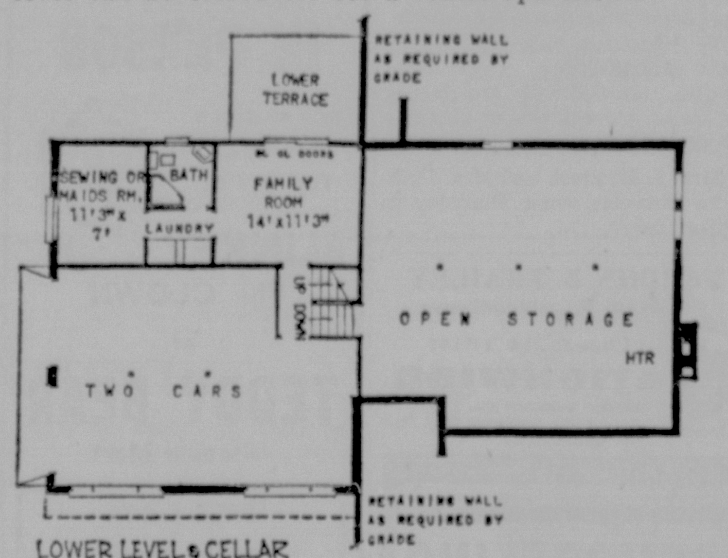

GRACIOUSNESS AND ELBOW ROOM — This handsome split level contains four bedrooms on the upper level and a fifth, if desired, on the lower level. Architect Herbert W. Neumann designed the house, counting the double garage and basement.

A further advantage of the design is that it combines open-plan living with privacy. Each room on the living level flows into the other, yet each is separate. In the case of the living and dining rooms, the all-important separation is maintained by an arch which also serves to blend the rooms together.

The house contains 1,791 square feet of living area on the upper level and first floor and 379 feet on the lower level for a total of 2,170 square feet not as he said, "without sacrificing sleeping comfort for extra living space." An unusual feature is the lower level can be closed off for a rental apartment.

FLOOR PLANS—Five entrances combine with a large foyer to provide excellent traffic circulation. Note that every room on the living level has at least two entrances, yet each room is separate; and that no room in the entire house needs to be entered by passing through another room.

Easy To Build Cabinets For Your Kitchen

Donald R. Brann

IT'S REALLY as easy as A-B-C to modernize a kitchen with handsome base and wall cabinets. And thanks to a new method of building, all the mystery has been eliminated. The pattern offered assumes you know nothing about woodworking, and tells what materials to buy, when and where each is used.

Directions tell how to build individual cabinets to size required to fit along one, two, three or four walls. The step-by-step assembly illustrations and full-size patterns are complete and easy to understand.

The first step is to decide whether you want to keep your refrigerator, range and sink in their present location. If so, follow step-by-step directions and build base and wall cabinets to exact size required between and above the fixed pieces of equipment.

If you prefer to move one piece of equipment or all three, the pattern illustrates floor plans that show step-saving placement for each piece of equipment.

Construction of base and wall cabinets, follows accepted sizes. Base cabinets are 24 inches deep with a counter top extending one inch. This permits lining up front edge with range, sink, dishwasher, etc. A wide assortment of shelf and drawer arrangements are recommended.

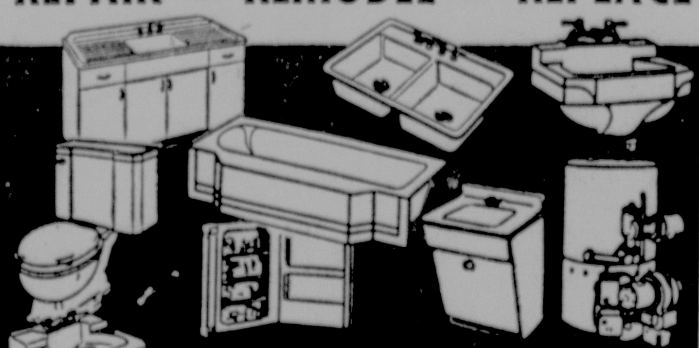

A well planned kitchen not only simplifies preparation of food, saves steps, time and effort, but also provides a pleasant place to work. You will be surprised to see the high quality cabinet you can build from pattern offered below. In size, appearance and convenience, they equal the best. Construction has been so simplified only hand tools are needed. Materials pattern specified are stock size and readily available at lumber yards everywhere.

Besides simplifying construction the pattern explains in easy-to-understand assembly illustrations, methods of finishing counter tops with plastic laminates. There is now no excuse to "dream" about a dream kitchen when "doing" something will get it done. Best of all, by building it yourself you'll be able to modernize your entire kitchen without denting your bank balance. Money saved building cabinets can go toward the purchase of a new range, refrigerator or sink. So start your kitchen modernization program today. Send $1.00 cash, check or money order for Kitchen Base and additional 35c for new East-Bild Wall Cabinet, pattern No. 201 to The Daily Record, P.O. Box 215, Pleasantville, New York. Send improvements books.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

Heat is, in its way, as paralyzing to social activity as snow. In both cases, people show an understandable reluctance to budge. Especially at first. Give us a week or so, however, and we start adjusting, turning Hot-tentot or Eskimo as the season requires.

So beneath the mid-Summer somnolence, there is a stirring of activities. Picnics are re-scheduled, bazaar committees start functioning, some of them with a defiant "rain or shine" ultimatum to the weather man.

Those of you tiring of a bland diet and cold food might take a tip from tropical countries such as India or Mexico where Indian curry or Mexican tamales are so hotly spiced that the temperature outside seems cool by comparison. It may not be scientific but it works psychologically.

Psychological, too, is the effect of fanning since the energy expended in waving a fan generates more heat than the puffs of air cool off, but people seem to feel, at least, that they're doing something about it. Much smarter, however, are those who get to windward of somebody else's energetic fanning.

Feeling the need of getting to windward of somebody's more energetic thinking, I coiled Mrs. Lloyd Manter, health supervisor at Camp Lloyd Treble, to find out how the Girl Scout Day Campers were doing. "Just fine," she assured me in a tone that made me feel cooler all by itself.

"Down under the trees it's much cooler, and then we have a shower every once in a while to cool it still more. And then they're busy and interested. Today, for instance, Mrs. Grant and Miss DePue came up and all 100 Girl Scouts gathered around in a tree-planting ceremony for a new hemlock tree."

But doesn't it get pretty hot on the buses coming home? Well, it seems hotter especially to the adults who are pretty tired by that time, but it doesn't seem to bother the kids; "They sing louder on the way home than on the way up in the morning," she assured me.

One group had plenty of time for practice yesterday afternoon since the bus broke down and they got ferried home by cab and parents' cars—all part of a big adventure to them.

Felt sort of adventurous myself, just hearing about them, until I heard about poor Vi Jones breaking a bone in her foot when she and Freddie were up in Canada. It's bad enough to be hot without hurting at the same time.

Hitch Your Wagon To Star But Then Give It A Push

By Roberta Fleming Roesch

"I come from a family who believes that taking a small, secure job in the bank where my brothers and sisters have always worked is a lot better than aiming at a type of job no one in our family has ever held," a reader writes. "But ever since I've been able to hold a paint brush and a jar of paint in my hand, I've had my wagon hitched to a star, as far as career plans go."

Discouraged By Family
"I don't expect to be a great painter. I'm prepared to take any art job and go anywhere," a reader writes. "But ever since I've been able to hold a paint brush and a jar of paint in my hand, I've had my wagon hitched to a star, as far as career plans go."

My wholehearted advice to this reader and to every reader like her is to keep your wagon hitched to stars and work for what you want—as long as your talent has been verified by a few other people in the world in addition to yourself.

Faith And Work
Any way you look at it, there will always be people in the world who will try to discourage you. But if a few people verify your talent and if you work hard and believe you've got what it takes, chances are you'll someday end up with the work you want.

In addition to having ability, working hard and believing in yourself, though, you've got to have enough courage to keep trying for what you want in spite of career disappointments. It's especially true if you elect a career in the arts.

Miss Shirley Nauman Bride Of Kenneth R. Kistler

Miss Shirley Betty June Nauman became the bride of Kenneth Robert Kistler, son of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Kistler, Promised Land Lake, in a double ring ceremony performed by Rev. Richard L. Gilbert at the Swiftwater Methodist Church, on Saturday, July 1 at 2 p. m.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Nauman, Mount Pocono, was given in marriage by her father.

She wore a floor-length gown of Chantilly lace over tulle and taffeta. The Sabrina neckline was embroidered with seed pearls and sequins and she wore a pearl necklace, wedding gift from the bridegroom. The sleeves tapered to a point at the wrist. The bouffant skirt fell in an illusion train. Her fingertip veil of French silk illusion fell from a crown of seed pearls. She carried a white prayer book with a corsage of white carnations and streamers of baby's breath.

Mrs. Frank Miller, Marshalls Creek, sister of the bride, was her matron of honor. She wore a dress of light blue nylon with inserts of blue and white lace at the waist and in the middle of the bouffant skirt.

The bridesmaid, Miss Lorraine Harrison, Cresco, wore a tiered gown of light blue lace with a scoop neckline. Miss Lynn Ann Nauman, niece of the bride, was junior bridesmaid. She wore a gown of light blue silk organza with puffed sleeves, trimmed with a summer satin Peter Pan collar and streamer bow at the waist.

Each wore a matching head-dress and carried a small old-fashioned bouquet of white carnations with blue tips and streamers to match the gowns. Howard Kistler, Promised Land Lake, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man. Ushers were Frank Miller, Marshalls Creek, brother-in-law of the bride, and Barry Kistler, Promised Land Lake, brother of the bridegroom.

The altar was decorated with bouquets of white carnations and baby's breath. Family pews were marked with white satin bows.

Mrs. Richard Gilbert, wife of the pastor, sang "Because of You," "I Love You Truly" and "O Perfect Love." Mrs. Henry Heise, of Swiftwater and New York City, was organist. After the young couple partook of Communion, Mrs. Gilbert sang "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride's mother wore a dress of light blue silk organza with white accessories and a corsage of white carnations. The bridegroom's mother wore a beige lace dress with pink accessories and a corsage of pink rosebuds.

At a reception for 100 guests at the Ken-Mar, Canadensis, the rooms were decorated with blue and white streamers with a four-tiered wedding cake in the center of the bride's table. Wedding bells hung from the ceiling.

After a buffet supper, guests danced to the music of the Pocono Promenaders.

For their wedding trip they went to Bar Harbor, Maine. For traveling the bride wore a suit of beige summer satin with white accessories and a corsage of white carnations. Upon their return they will make their home at Promised Land Lake.

The bride, a graduate of Barrett High School, is employed at Weiler Brush Co., Cresco. The bridegroom, a graduate of Greene-Dreher-Sterling High School, served four years in the Air Force. He is now employed with Russell Nauman, contractor.

At 8 the Monroe County Band will present a concert. The public is invited to attend the event which will be held rain or shine.

U.S. Flare For Fashions Followed In Paris Opening

By Nadeane Walker

Paris (AP)—A suit dress that fits as neatly as wallpaper kicked off Jean Patou's show Monday on the opening day of the Paris fall and winter showings. Patou's designer followed through with a double-skirted princess line, usually showing the knees.

One mannequin actually came in with her skirt over her head, but it was all right—there was a second layer, right down to the floor. The overskirt, grabbed up as a hooded cape, later dropped down to form a slight train.

Patou must be the textile makers' dream boy this season, for nearly every skirt in his show is double, with a flared, pleated or belled overskirt cut about a skimpy inch shorter than the slim sheath underneath.

Fur coats are old hat, so are fur linings—but Patou has whipped up a beaver fur cocktail dress, worn nonchalantly under a pink wool coat.

Lumpy jeweled embroidery reached a climax in a slinky black velvet cocktail dress with tight sequined skirt.

Two-color furs seem to be emerging as a trend. Patou shows them in white and brown, while Gies in his morning showing liked brown and beige combinations.

As usual with Patou, there was something for the girls who like to wow the boys: Strapless balcony fronts, barely propped up by a jeweled buckle.

Chunky costume jewelry ran to cluster or tear-drop earrings, jet chandeliers, and thick pearl necklaces with a huge paste diamond inset.

What was billed as a shoulder-strap necklace turned out to be a backward halter, with thin straps attached only behind and choking the neck in front. Patou is also strong on off-shoulder decolletage.

2 Churches To Combine For Picnic

Weather permitting, the Sunday Schools of Grace Lutheran Church, East Stroudsburg and St. John's Lutheran Church, Stroudsburg, will hold a joint picnic on Thursday at 5:30 p. m. at the Stroudsburg playground.

This annual event, originally scheduled for last Thursday was postponed because of wet grounds and threatening weather.

Planned is a buffet picnic with each family bringing a covered dish. Games for children and for all age groups have been arranged by a committee which includes Harold Reaser, Mrs. Clifton Johnson and Donald Cramer of St. John's and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Bond, Grace Treible, George T. Mensch Jr. and Tony Vogler from Grace Church.

Name Omitted

The name of Mrs. Lizzie Berger of Stroudsburg was omitted from the list of those attending the Dailey Reunion. Mrs. Berger is Owen Dailey's sister.

8 et 40 Picnic

The 8 et 40 will hold a picnic supper at the home of Frances Ransberger, Shawnee on Thursday night at 7. Members are asked to bring table service.

Busy Agenda For Coolbaugh Fire Company

Tobyhanna — The final report of the recent carnival, sponsored by the Coolbaugh Twp. Volunteer Fire Co. will be given at the meeting on Wednesday, Aug. 2, at the firehouse. A supplementary report by the Ladies Aux. will summarize their activities of the carnival.

Also on the agenda is a discussion of a proposed campaign for funds for the Ambulance Corps. The ambulance service covers Tobyhanna, Gouldsboro, Pocono and Mount Pocono. It is financed with memberships of three dollars for a year, covering the entire family. Local hotels and motels have been asked to cover their transients with a donation.

President Joseph Eck is also interested in forming another first aid class in September to train personnel in the Ambulance Service and to open the Red Cross course to everyone in the area.

The ways and means committee will report on the recently purchased tanker. With a capacity of 1000 gallons it will provide water both summer and winter. Estimates are being considered to convert the oil truck into a water pump.

Fire drills are held each Wednesday to train younger firefighters and to keep the veterans abreast of latest developments.

(Lens Art)

Miss Nancy Van Why Bride Of Elwood E. Seas

Portland—Miss Nancy Lee Van Why, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Van Why, of Portland, was married on July 21 at the home of Rev. John Early, retired Lutheran minister, at Mount Bethel, to Elwood E. Seas, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Seas, Sr., of Bangor RD 3.

The bride wore a street-length dress of white chiffon over taffeta with a lace jacket and a short veil attached to a garland of spring flowers. She carried a prayer book with a white orchid and Stephanotis. They were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Carl R. Jewell, of Portland. Mrs. Jewell wore a street-length dress of pink linen with white accessories and a corsage of dark pink roses.

A dinner for the immediate wedding party was held at the Stateford Hotel before the newlyweds left for a honeymoon in the New England States.

They are both graduates of East Stroudsburg High School. Mr. Seas is employed by the Houdaille Construction Co., Portland.

Because I'm always interested in telling everyone about a bargain, I must mention that the actors of the Gap Summer Theatre in the heart of Wind Gap (right on the main thoroughfare) are reducing their prices to 1.50 minimum for weekday evenings and 1.00 for Sundays at 6. This week's show is "A Hatful of Rain" with a cast of brilliant young people, including Pat Mertens, the beautiful Sadie Thompson of "Rain"; Marian Mira, a pretty home economics teacher from New Jersey; and Mac McGinnis, a likeable young professional actor of considerable experience. Guy Laino, who is an excellent character actor, is directing.

For a pleasant evening try to see one of the plays. You'll applaud the skill of a fine cast, I can assure you.

Doll Parade Thursday At Playground

The annual Doll Parade will be held Thursday at 2 p. m. at the East Stroudsburg Playground with ribbons to be awarded in eight categories:

Prettiest, prettiest foreign doll, largest number belonging to one contestant, largest doll, smallest, funniest, best float and best-dressed doll.

Judges will be Mrs. E. William Smith, Mrs. William Pfeifer and Mrs. Andrew Faris.

Legion Family Picnic Thursday At Broth'dsville

Gilbert — West End American Legion Aux., Unit 927, will hold its annual picnic at Altamose's Pool, Brothheadville, on Thursday with Friday set as the rain date.

Swimming will be enjoyed in the afternoon with the picnic supper scheduled to start at 6. The picnic is for members of the Legion and their families with the young people who sold poppies for the Auxiliary invited as guests.

Members are asked to bring table service for the family, a covered dish and beverage. Hot dogs and rolls will be furnished.

Defender Hebert Not Awed By Palmer-Player

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP)—"This is not a one-man or a two-man tournament," Jay Hebert, the forgotten defending champion in the PGA golf championship, said Tuesday. "Twenty or thirty guys could win it—including me."

The lean-grey-eyed golfer from Lafayette, La., let it be known that he was least of all impressed by the heavy Arnold Palmer-Gary Player sentiment sweeping Olympia Fields for the 43rd annual professional event, starting Thursday.

"This is not the kind of course that favors the big hitter, like Palmer or Sam Snead," Hebert said. "It's a course that takes position golf. I like that. But it opens up the field."

Wide Open Event
"I don't think we've had a more wide open major tournament since the Open at Winged Foot in 1939. Nobody's going to overpower this layout. Almost any of the top players could win it, and it might be one of the older players, or even a club pro."

Hebert, one of two golfing brothers who has won this coveted prize, is high on his own chances.

"I haven't felt better in two years. I took a couple of weeks off before the tournament last week at Milwaukee. I am strong and eager. If I can drop my putts, I think I have as good a chance as any of them."

Hebert and Palmer both had 68s—two under par, in practice Tuesday.

Palmer, the oig-shouldered slugger from Latrobe, Pa., who is just back from a triumph in the British Open, and Gary Player, the Masters champion and leading money winner from South Africa, are the overwhelming favorites.

Driving Poorly
"I'm not driving as well as I did at Birkdale," said Palmer. "But I'm not unhappy about my game. If I can straighten them out off the tee, I won't worry. This is the one I want to win."

Player, who has been in a putting slump since this victory at Augusta, believes he has conquered his inconsistency on the greens. "I have much more confidence," he said.

One hundred and sixty-nine pros, tournament tourists and club teachers, tee off on the first of four rounds Thursday at 7 a.m. EST. One round will be played daily through Sunday.

Chair-Part Of Clowns Game Gear

BANGOR — Potential big league talent will dot Bangor Memorial Park Stadium Saturday night when the Indianapolis Clowns oppose the New York Royals in a Park Board sponsored arc-light contest starting at 8 o'clock.

The Clowns have a habit of supplying ivory. Hank Aaron, Clarence Coleman, Joe Cherry, Van Rushing, Sam Hairston and Roberto Herrera, to name a few who have moved up were Indianapolis insignia in the past and the latest prospect appears to be Paul Casanova, said to be the best catcher in Clown history.

Plays In Chair

For versatility, however, fans will be focusing their eyes in many directions. Naturally Williams, for instance, show-boat first baseman, is one of the great givemen of the game. He plays sitting in a folding chair, seated on the grass or with his back to the pitching mound.

Then there is amolextious Grant Greene. In winning 22 games last year, he struck out 163 batters—87 while hurling right-handed, 76 as a southpaw. Greene also is recognized as North Carolina State's jitterbug dancing champion.

Early last month the Clowns enjoyed a fabulous four days. They pulled a triple play at Davenport, Iowa; turned in a no-hit, no-run victory at Sterling, Ill.; and followed with another triple play at Columbus, Ohio. In this span the club also racked up three two-hitters, a one-hitter, executed 14 double plays and scored more than 30 runs.

Old Stars Meet Again At Giffels

OLDTIMERS from the Anolomink and Bushkill teams of the Pocono Mountain League will meet in an exhibition game Sunday at 1 p. m. at Gordon Giffels Field.

The game will precede the regularly scheduled Anolomink-Bushkill game.

After the game, Anolomink will host both oldtimers clubs and Bushkill at a picnic and swimming party at Pardee's Beach Club on the Delaware River.

Bushkill Oldtimers

Bushkill oldtimers expected to play are Rick DePue, Charles Echonover, James Ogden, Kenneth Garris, Ralph Eppley, Ray Steele, Thomas Carmella, Kenneth Ladice, Steve Balck, Ralph Turn, Ray O'Melko, Louis Lee and Lawrence DePue.

Anolomink former stars include Sam Strunk, Sr., Clint Besecker, James Fralley, Tom Sommers, Frank Belli, Clyde Lessig, Redge Flanagan, Bob Miller, John Manson, Wilmer Miller, Paul Strunk, Melvin Bush, Layton DeHaven, Larry Shook, Bob Beecher, Clair Metzgar, Bob Schoonover, Wayne Metzgar, Earl Weiss, Dick Tranter, Ted Sebring, Elmer Goucher, Elmer Bonser, Bill Reaser and Russell Bergman.

Oldtimers are requested to report to Gordon Giffels by noon Sunday to receive their uniforms.

The University of Buffalo football team lost 10 starters from the 1960 squad, but has 18 lettermen returning.

Price Fans 13 In No-Hitter

ALMOST overlooked in the maze of major league baseball Sunday, was a no-hitter pitched by Doug Price, of Tannersville, in the Pocono Mountain Baseball League.

Tannersville bombed Bushkill 17-0, as Price recorded his second no-hitter of his Mountain League career.

Price fanned 13 and walked only one and helped at bat with one hit in five appearances. It was the first no-hitter in several years in the league.

Touring golf pros George Bayer and Tommy Aaron, will play an exhibition match Saturday, Aug. 5 at Blue Ridge Country Club, Palmerton. The match starts at 1:30 but will be preceded by a golf clinic.

Tickets for the event are on sale at Lim's Sporting Goods and at Indian Mountain Golf Course, Kresgeville.

Bayer won the 1960 Professional Golfers' Assn. driving championship last year with a belt of 307 yards, two feet on a level hole. Bayer is regarded as the longest hitter in golf.

The SCUBA Diving exhibition at the Stroudsburg pool, rained out last week, will be held tonight.

The event is being used to raise money for the Stroudsburg playground camping fund.

Vanderbush Gets New Coach Job

Walter Vanderbush, ex basketball coach at Bangor High, has left Steelton High School, for a coaching position at Hilton Center School, Hilton, N. Y.

Wayne Hardin, Navy football coach, will be in Wilkes-Barre this weekend to present the Naval Academy Athletic Assn. trophy to the winner of the Giant Despair Hill Climb, a sports car event.

The 42nd Professional Golfers' Assn. championship will be on television Saturday from 5:30 to 6:30 and from 4:30 to 6 on Sunday on CBS.

Obitz-Farley Merges Carts

Obitz-Farley Co. has merged its electric golf cart division with Triumph Metal Casting Co., of Phoenixville.

The one-man electric golf carts, called Go-Fars, were manufactured in Phillipsburg but now that the merger has gone through, the operations will be shifted to Phoenixville, Triumph, which made the cast aluminum frames for carts, will retain the Obitz-Farley name for its new acquisition.

Harry Obitz and Dick Farley, who designed the carts, are former Shawnee Inn golf professionals.

At Moscow Monday

Records Shattered In PPGA Event; Bickel Grabs Lead

JOHN SERAFIN and the Pocono Professional Golf Assn. went on a record breaking spree Monday at Elmhurst Country Club, Moscow.

Serafin won the co-sponsored event with a three-under par 69, tying the PPGA 18-hole record set last year by Sam Kinder of Water Gap. Kinder's 69 was at Harkers Hollow.

But Serafin cracked the nine-hole mark of 34, held by five players, when he closed with a 33 at Elmhurst. Kinder, Vince Yanovitch, Tamiment; Ted Bickel, Harkers Hollow; John Chimenti, Shawnee Inn and Bob Paluzzi, Towanda, were co-holders of the 34 record.

Serafin set two birdie records and tied a third. His seven birdies at Elmhurst topped the previous record of five, held by Kinder and Yanovitch and his four birds on the back side erased the nine-hole bird mark of three held by Yanovitch, Kinder and Bickel. Bob Kidd's record of most birds in a row (2) was tied twice by Serafin.

Adds 40 Points
By winning at Elmhurst, Serafin picked up 40 points in the point standings, the largest number of points awarded in a single tournament. And the $130 he won Monday was the association's top first play award.

It was the second PPGA win in a row for Serafin, tying another mark. Kinder won back to back events last year.

Serafin holds the lead in the stroke average standings with a 71.66 for three tournaments. Chimenti is next at 73.66. However, to qualify for the award, a pro must play in 70 percent of the PPGA events.

Bickel On Top
Bickel heads both the point and stroke average. He has 114 points in five tournaments, for a two point lead over Kinder and his stroke average of 76 tops the second place Kinder, who has averaged 77 blows.

Kinder had held both leads from the second tournament.

On the PPGA record breaking side, it was the largest field in the two year history of the group. Twenty member pros were in the 29 pro field, topping the record of 15 set at Shawnee Inn last year.

The pros played for $490 dollars, the biggest PPGA pot.

The weather also got into the act. When play was halted for about an hour in the morning because of rain, it marked the first time a tournament had been held up because of weather.
